3) IPSC President's report

I think the best way to characterize last year, 1996, would be as an organizational year - last year we created projects and programs. This year, 1997, has been a working year - this year we implemented those plans and projects. It has been a lot of work for all of us, but we can see it paying off. In two years, membership is up by more than 16%, and the number of IPSC regions have increased 15%. These are impressive figures.

But, if there is only one criterion by which we should judge a shooting organization, then I say it should be "shooting". Thanks to the shooters, the officials, the match organizers, and the Regional Directors, we have seen more than 90 registered International Level III matches this year! This is an unprecedented increase which is probably in the order of 300%. Our matches are becoming bigger, better, more efficient, exciting, and overall well run safe events.

UKPSA

Bitterly, the day has come when all big-bore center-fire handguns in the United Kingdom must be turned into the government for destruction. This event in the UK shows us just how easily the forces of gun-control can explode.

We personally experienced the agony felt by the many UK shooters who traveled to the French National Championships for what would be their last international IPSC match with their own firearms. There were tears of disgust, of shame, and of anger.

There was an outpouring of compassion with a standing ten minute ovation given them during the awards ceremony when all our hearts went out to the "Brits".

The spirit of the UKPSA is as strong as the English Bulldog. Members will continue shooting action type events with rifles and shotguns and they will have their own "flying squads" at all European Level III matches including the upcoming European Championships. Three cheers for the stalwart members of UKPSA!

Executive Council

Ladies and gentlemen, here is an underlying and undeniable fact in which we all must be aware. We either, "evolve or die", we either "grow or rot". I think most of you know, and I will say it here again, there is no question about the direction of this Executive Council. It is a pleasure working with the members of this Council, and on behalf of IPSC, I would like to thank them for their generous service and support.

Philippe Crochard (General Secretary)

Ren Henderson (IPSC Treasurer)

Dave Arnold (IROA President)

Peter Glenn (IROA Vice President)

President's Council

I also wish to thank the members of the President's Council for their invaluable assistance and contribution. Without their collective guidance and individual counsel, my job would be infinitely more difficult. No one could ask for a better team!

Tim Andersen (DEN)

Dino Evangelinos (CAN)

Luiz Frota (BRA)

Frederich Gepperth (GER)

Andy Hollar (USA)

Cameron Hopkins (USA)

Joe Yang (CHN)

Promotion

Promotion and communications go hand-in-hand, and our communications this year have been the best ever. The Internet e-mail and the World Wide Web have been tremendous tools for IPSC. With the planned future improvements to our IPSC site, we will have an even larger presence. I would be remiss if I did not thank Mr. Ian Fachie for his tireless efforts as the IPSC webmaster. Also, I might add, that Ian was able to squeeze out some precious time and has brought us a new MSS (version 6.4). This new version will correctly handle the separation and scoring of Divisions. We are extremely grateful to Ian for his invaluable time and talent.

Future

There is no doubt that our long-term goals lie in our acceptance by the international sports community, and we are moving quite nicely in this direction. Within the next few months, we hope to meet with the President of UIT for discussions in areas of mutual concern and interest. As we said last year, "We are going to step into the international arena and promote IPSC shooting."

Agenda

As last year, we included "moved, seconded, carried, and denied" following each motion. This way, you will be able to easily keep notes and would have a virtually perfect set of minutes to take away with you.

I must again apologize for the size of this agenda. I was so hoping our Assemblies would start to become more of a gathering of friends where we could all look forward to seeing each other and to constructively deal with the business of the Confederation. We may get there yet... In the meantime, I want to especially thank you - the Regional Directors. You are the ladies and gentlemen that keep it all going, and I salute you.

IPSC President

4) IROA President's report

Since our last assembly in Brasilia in 1996 the International Range Officers Association has had its most active year. Due to increased business commitments my available time this year was very limited, but in typical IROA fashion we were fortunate to have people step forward to assist in continuing operations.

IROA Administrator

One of our most important accomplishments was the appointment of Mr. Bud Melless or Toronto, Canada to serve as IROA Administrator. Mr. Melless has been recognized in Canada for his administrative skills and devotion to the shooting sports, and is now bringing that same organizational ability and enthusiasm to IROA operations. The process of reporting and tracking events and range officer match points has been streamlined, and responses to queries from IROA officials are being handled in a much more timely manner. I receive email responses and reports from Bud on virtually a daily basis and am kept apprised of anything requiring my attention. I look forward to Bud's continued support and our excellent working relationship.

World Shoot Preparations

You'll remember that our next World Shoot will be conducted in the Philippines in two years. I am pleased to report that initial preparations are well under way at this time. IROA Vice-President Peter Glenn has made several trips to the Philippines in the last year. In cooperation with the Philippine Regional Directorate several range officer seminars have been conducted and the region has hosted several large events during the past twelve months. Additionally, Peter has established working relationships with many municipal and governmental officials and is receiving excellent support. It is clear that both the local and national government is supportive and excited at the opportunity to host World Shoot XII. I quote from Peter's latest report of 1st September 1997.

"Inspected the range and had an appointment with Mayor Weigel of Lapu Lapu City, and in whose jurisdiction the World Shoot will take place. I noted that the development in the area has proceeded at a great pace with new roads, a new hotel being built near the range and a new five-star hotel has been opened at the international airport - all in the last 16 months.

I attended a function at the PNP (Philippine National Police) Headquarters in Manila and had lunch with Colonel James Lascar, Officer in Charge of Firearms and Explosives in the Philippines. He assured me that there would be no problems with import/export permits for those attending the event."

I would like to publicly thank Peter Glenn and the Philippine Region for their efforts and continuing enthusiasm. I believe it is safe to say that by the time we reach Cebu we will enjoy the benefit of unprecedented preparation and support, and certainly have the potential to realize the best World Shoot yet.

IROA Seminars

A committee has been established to review and evaluate the existing content of the IROA Level I and Level II seminars. As we continue to learn important lessons it is vital that the information is transmitted to others. Mr. Peter Glenn of Australia, Mr. Chepit Dulay of the Philippines, Mr. Bill Maund of the United States, and Mr. Ralph Wilhelm of Germany are lending their talents and experience to this important project. We look forward to the completion of their review and subsequent recommendations that will allow us to continue the presentation of quality training to officials.

Mr. Alexakos stated in his report that in 1997 we experienced a membership increase of 16% and a 15% increase in IPSC regions. As both of these factors increase so does the demand for IROA services. This year we have seen an increase in the number of officials requesting IROA certification. We are also finding that as new regions join our confederation they are quickly requesting assistance in the establishment of their own national program. During 1997 we have welcomed fifty-five new officials to the IROA ranks, with three more being processed at this time. This year IROA conducted seminars in the Philippines, Slovenia, Indonesia, France, Mexico and Venezuela. I have no doubt that 1998 will list even more locations.

Summary

Our President has stated that "we evolve or we die". It was nine years ago here in Caracas that the World Assembly issued the directive to establish the International Range Officers Association. Starting with a nucleus of five officials the organization has grown to now include over one hundred sixty members serving IPSC throughout the world. Nine years later I continue to stand in awe at the enthusiasm, talent and knowledge displayed by the IROA membership as they tackle difficult tasks on a daily basis, and look forward to the continued evolution of this outstanding group.

*Respectfully Submitted,
Dave Arnold
IROA President*
